

THE RUSSELL HOWARD HOUR LANDS RARE INTERVIEW WITH GRETA THUNBERG

"Russell Howard has found his place with this satirical vehicle"

Victoria Segal, The Sunday Times

"sardonic but ultimately affirmative and optimistic take on global news and politics. What sets Howard apart from other TV satirists is his faith in human nature."

Ed Power, The i

"hugely physical with his performances and relentlessly funny, he has been a mainstay of the schedules for more than a decade"

Iman Amrani, The Guardian

"the star doesn't shy away from the biggest news stories of the week...hilarious"

Louis Staples, The Independent

It was announced today, 18th October, that the world's most famous environmental activist known for challenging global leaders on climate inaction, Greta Thunberg is set to join Russell Howard on Thursday 3rd November on Sky Max and streaming service NOW at 10.30pm.

The upcoming episode will feature the three-time Nobel Peace Prize nominee whose 2018 school strike sparked a global movement, chatting to Russell in studio about the release of The Climate Book. Plus, for the first time ever in a special edition of Playground Politics, Russell and Greta team up with the brilliant (and hilarious) minds of the next generation to tackle the big questions around global warming.

Now in its sixth series including Russell's 100th episode on air, The Russell Howard Hour immediately became one of Sky's most successful entertainment series when it launched and has also gone on to see huge success online with over 500 million views on social media including multiple segments recently going viral such as: Russell asking kids for their take on the rail strikes (6.7 million views), Russell calling for PM Liz Truss to quit (4.3 million views) and a sketch on the fuel crisis (6.4 million views).

Throughout the series Russell will be joined by guests in studio and via a satellite link, with the show previously featuring interviews with well-known faces including Ed Sheeran, Matthew McConaughey, Dizzee Rascal, Elizabeth Day, Billy Connolly, Akala, Keanu Reeves, Lady Leshurr, Guz Khan, Naomi Klein, Jim Carrey, Jack Black, Louis Theroux, Tyson Fury, John Oliver, Alesha Dixon, Tan France, Brian Cox, Rob Delaney, Armando Iannucci, Elizabeth Banks and Jimmy Car, while also spotlighting unsung heroes such as disability activist Sinead Burke, anti-knife crime campaigner and former champion boxer Mark Prince and KKK converter Daryl Davis.

Each episode is available to watch worldwide on Russell's YouTube channel, with over 1.4 million subscribers and over 400 million views, as well as being broadcast on Foxtel in Australia and TVNZ in New Zealand close to UK transmission

The news arrives shortly after Russell announced he will be returning to the live stage in Spring 2023 with his first new tour, Russell Howard Live, since 2019. In response to the opening on-sale weekend selling out 50 shows, 120, 000+ tickets, Russell added 22 dates, amassing over 50, 000 new tickets, which will now see him play 80 shows at venues nationwide including six performances at The London Palladium, seven for a Bristol Hippodrome homecoming run and five at Sheffield's City Hall.

Russell has over 9 million followers on social media. His TikTok channel attracted over 100k followers within 48 hours of launching and is currently tracking over 1.2 million with over 150 million views.

Other Things The Press Said About The Russell Howard Hour:

★★★★The Mail On Sunday ★★★★★ Heat Magazine ★★★★★ The Daily Star ★★★★★ TV Times ★★★★★ The Daily Express ★★★★★ Star Magazine

"one of the world's top comedians"
Martin Hemming, The Sunday Times

"Apparently ageless, hugely physical with his performances and relentlessly funny, he has been a mainstay of the schedules for more than a decade"
Iman Amrani, The Guardian

"Altogether more politicised and hard-hitting....It was a treat to find Howard showing so much bite... it's not often you get such spiky satire on Sky1...Howard and his Hour should be applauded."
Michael Hogan, The Daily Telegraph

"Howard's routines provide a more pointed critique of government incompetence and malfeasance than you might expect...his interview segments offer extended chats with an eclectic range of guests beyond the same old roster of celebrities"
Jack Seale, Radio Times

"Underestimate Russell Howard at your peril...behind that smile is a performer with real teeth ready to tear into current affairs and the many failings of our lords and masters"
Mark Wareham, The Mail On Sunday

"There is no denying the popularity of Russell. As his topical comedy returns for its fourth series, the numbers it can boast are staggering- it's had over 400 million views on social media and has covered topics as varied as the porn industry and Ku Klux Klan"
Eleanor Relf, The Sun

"the star doesn't shy away from the biggest news stories of the week...hilarious"
Louis Staples, The Independent

"a big hit for Sky"
Forbes

"His topical chat show has been a hit, securing fascinating celebs like Louis Theroux, Jon Ronson and Naomi Klein for extended chats"
Graeme Virtue, The Guardian

"Russell Howard gets set to nail our messed-up world once again with another series of sharp comedic insights from the week's biggest stories"
Emily Baker, The i

"The Russell Howard Hour, a weekly comedy series on Sky 1 in which Howard brings his characteristic wit and observational humor to the stories dominating the cultural zeitgeist."
Dane Rivera, UPROXX (USA)

"a refreshing antidote to the default world-weary cynicism of so many of his comedy peers."

Sharon Lougher, Metro

"Russell Howard has truly gone global...Though he may be known for his cheeky, happy-go-lucky demeanour, Howard has never been one to shy away from the bigger issues...Whether it's highlighting child hunger, unashamed praise for the police, or taking aim at Trumps' views on transgender people in the military, the varying topics are all things Howard has a strong opinion on."

Alex Nelson, The i

"no one can seriously deny him his place at comedy's top table...the way in which Howard views the world has changed. He is more reflective, less flippant, than he used to be"

Rupert Hawksley, The Daily Telegraph

What The Press Have Said About Russell's stand-up:

"Howard is a megastar" ★★★★★

Allan Radcliffe, The Times

"In Respite he takes stock of the current chaos and concludes that we need more fun.... Howard says laughter brings people together. It certainly did last night."

★★★★★ Bruce Dessau, Evening Standard

"With smart, satisfying and well-rationed callbacks, Howard builds his giddy anecdotes into a tsunami of feelgood humour, drenching the sizeable crowd in positivity. No wonder they were moved to rise to their feet... and not just in the usual festival shuffle for the exit." ★★★★★½

Steve Bennett, Chortle

"Howard's riffs on life in 2021 that is the best material...Respite is, at times, Howard's philosophy on life. Sort of like a self-help book for a flawed world slowly coming out of hibernation that would be a whole lot better – and sillier – if we followed his advice....has achieved global success... You would have to be pretty joyless yourself not to have fun at a Russell Howard gig. He will now take these life lessons around the world, offering togetherness, hope and a lot of silliness" ★★★★★

Martin Booth, The Telegraph

"In 2021, what does gratitude sound like? Having witnessed it firsthand, I'd say it's the sound of a 2000-seat auditorium lit up with laughter...Howard is one of the world's biggest comedy stars. His flow is punchy and unstoppable"

Maggie Wicks, The New Zealand Herald

"Russell Howard is at the top of his game, his elegantly crafted observational stand-up using cunningly spun callbacks and physical comedy to flirt with controversy, domesticity, politics, sex, and Calippo ice lollies"

Stephen Armstrong, The Sunday Times

"Hero's return for the uplifting comedy king...Howard is undeniably one of the biggest names in comedy"

★★★★★ Josh Stephenson, Metro

"Howard masterfully builds a show that is hilarious and convincing in equal manner"

★★★★★ Owen Richards, The i

"It's safe to say this show went down a storm"

★★★★★ Tabitha James, Young Perspective

"Arguably one of the funniest blokes to come out of the United Kingdom right now, you can rest assured Russell Howard will be keeping the laughs coming"

Mina Kerr-Lazenby, Stuff

NOTES TO EDITORS

About Russell Howard:

- Russell recently completed his third and biggest sell-out world tour to date. Selling over 300,000 tickets, the Respite tour saw Russell play a UK arena run plus a second UK leg including 5 Hammersmith Apollo dates culminating with taping his second Netflix special Lubricant which is streaming now.
- The two-part Netflix instalment features his stand-up special striving to make sense of a world that is spinning out of control, Lubricant and documentary mapping his attempts to keep performing throughout the Covid 19 pandemic, Until The Wheels Come Off.
- Russell is the first comedian to release a special accompanied by a documentary on Netflix.
- Following Lubricant's release, Russell became the sole comedian to have two of the top ten most-streamed specials across all platforms in the UK in the last 12 months.
